The core of the Check Point Total Security Solution includes:

- Unified line of security gateways, offering customers a broad range of deployment options to fit a customer site of any size. We provide our customers with a choice of software solutions which can be deployed on open platforms or as integrated solutions from one of our appliance partners. Our customers can also purchase fully integrated solutions from Check Point in the form of UTM-1TM appliances or our new line of high-end Power-1TM appliances. - Single agent for endpoint security designed to maximize security and reduce the complexities of deploying and managing endpoint solutions.
- Single console for security management which provides our customers with single console to effectively and efficiently manage their security deployments across the enterprise.

Since the beginning of 2008 we have made further security product introductions and expanded current product lines underscoring our intent to be the security vendor of choice throughout the enterprise:

- In February, we unveiled the industry's first single agent for endpoint security combining endpoint firewall, anti-virus/anti-spyware, remote access VPN, and data security in a best in breed suite designed to reduce the complexity of deployment and management while increasing security on the endpoint.
- This week we announced a new line of Check Point high-end Power-1 appliances delivering Check Point security with performance of up to 14Gbps, with leading price/performance of under $4/Mbps.
