We received the following industry accolades and announced the following partnerships:

Leader in the 2017 Gartner Magic Quadrant for Enterprise Network Firewalls – The new report evaluated the company's "completeness of vision" and "ability to execute" in areas such as security management and threat prevention. Check Point has been positioned as a Leader in Enterprise Network Firewalls Magic Quadrant since 1997.

Leader in the 2016 Gartner Magic Quadrant for Unified Threat Management – The new report evaluated the company's completeness of vision and ability to execute within the small and mid-sized business market. Check Point has been positioned as a Leader in Unified Threat Management Magic Quadrant for six consecutive years.

Check Point SandBlast Mobile Receives Miercom's Certified Secure Award: SandBlast Mobile received Miercom's Certified Secure Award in the first independent, mobile threat defense test. The test measured the products ability to identify, block, and respond to malicious malware, network attack vulnerabilities, and mobile device vulnerabilities. This is Miercom's highest award of achievement in competitive, hands-on testing.

Check Point Infinity NGFW Earns NSS Recommended in Next Generation Firewall Test: For the 14th consecutive time, Check Point has achieved a recommended rating in the 2017 NSS Labs Next Generation Firewall Group Test.

Automotive Cyber Security: Check Point joined forces with Valens as members of the HDBaseT Alliance to help define the necessary specifications for a more secure connected car. The alliance will drive the development of a safer, better-equipped solution for in-vehicle connectivity and safety.

Our security research organization has also continued to expose vulnerabilities in today's infrastructure, which included critical vulnerabilities in mobile equipment and applications, including:

Watching a movie on your personal computer can infect your computer: Hacked in Translation malware utilizes subtitles as a new attack vector. Once the subtitles are infected hackers may be able to execute malicious subtitles to target users of popular media platforms and potentially gain complete control over the device.

Over 250 million computers worldwide were infected with the Fireball malware: Check Point Threat Intelligence and research teams discovered this high-volume Chinese threat operation, which installed malware that takes over the target computer's browser and turns it into a "zombie." Once infected, hackers can run any code on the victim's computer, and hijack and manipulate the infected users' web-traffic to generate ad-revenue.

14 million Android devices infected with CopyCat: Check Point researchers identified the mobile malware that infected approximately 8 million Android devices, and allowed the hackers behind the campaign to skim ad revenues.

"We've made important headway in enabling companies to prevent cyber-attacks by introducing the Check Point Infinity cyber security architecture. We will continue to focus on our vision – the next attack can be prevented" concluded Shwed.
