

Greek Ministry of Education Protects 65,000 Distance Learners with ZoneAlarm

The Greek Ministry of Education administers the country's public schools, curriculum and policies.

Check Point ZoneAlarm greatly reduces the risks associated with students using the Internet. We're confident that threats cannot harm software or the hard drives, thereby taking the devices offline."

- Socrates Chatzikonstantinou
,
Assistant Manager, NSRF
Department, Ministry of Education

Sign up for updates

Challenges

- Protect 65,000 tablets used for distance learning from cyber security threats
- Ensure students are protected from inappropriate websites and online predators
- Prevent device downtime and learning interruptions due to security threats

Solutions

- Check Point ZoneAlarm for Institutions mobile security app

Benefits

- Enabled students and teachers to safely download teaching apps and browse the web
- Blocked malicious apps, URLs, zero-day threats, and phishing attacks
- Simplified transition to distance learning with preset security settings

Learn more at:

www.checkpoint.com/customer-stories/